The power of Indian excellence.

India ranks third among 40 countries in EY's Renewable Energy Country Attractiveness Index. This is a direct result of the strong backing and focus by the government on promoting renewable energy and implementation of projects in a time bound manner.

With the Make In India drive and various global clean energy initiatives the demand for Renewable Energy is only rising and the Indian government's initiatives are only complimenting the growth of organisations in this sector.

To further support and encourage those industry players who strive hard to bring a sea change in India's renewable energy market with groundbreaking innovations & initiatives, UBM India the organisers of Asia's largest Renewable Energy congregation the REI Expo is proud to present the 3rd edition of the REI awards.

Over the last two years, the REI Awards have been successful in establishing itself as a leading awards property. It's 50+% of year on year increase in the participation is proof of it.

The REI awards are conducted methodically to draw out the best in the industry, with a process driven robust approach with EY as the process advisors and a neutral jury which comprises of industry think tanks who have championed their respective domain expertises from various facets of the RE sector.

A Few Winners from REIA 2016

The awards are an important way of recognising the work done by small-big-medium enterprises, the risk taken by the financial institutions, the risk taken by developers in developing projects, and the overall trust given by the ministry, by the state government, regulators and all stakeholders. So it's a good beginning and I trust and I think in the years to come the UBM awards will become synonymous to development of renewable energy sector in India.

SHIRISH GARUD,
Director and Senior Fellow, TERI

This is a very good initiative because it's in a way renewable energy is being talked about a lot in the industry and the country and there is a great potential and this is one way of encouraging people who are contributing to the development of this industry.

I am very happy to be associated with REI Awards. I find it as a very well thought out initiative and the process is very fair and balanced it gives credit to the awardees based on various criteria's both on quantity as well quality of their work. It's very broad based – it recognises excellence in manufacturing as well as project development and innovation.

AJIT GUPTA,

Former Adviser in the Ministry of New and Renewable Energy (MNRE), Government of India

It's been a humbling experience for the company to get recognised and we are doing some innovative work in the BIOMASS Space and recognition like these gives us the impetus to continue what we are doing.
